“ Cathy was one of a kind....so hospitable, willing to give you the shirt off her back. She was so supportive and had a very good listening ear and caring heart. She was a big sister that any and everyone wants to have. I'll always remember her loving words of encouragement and time spent with me during some of the most difficult times in my life.

Who can forget all the events, parties, gatherings that she put together?.....if she wasn't planning something for all, she was trying to support in some kind of way. Tea parties, craft nights, dinners, gift making, spa days.....so many days spent cracking jokes and laughing our heads off! My first craft night at her house ended with a beautiful necklace that she showed me how to finish off with a clasp, now i'm supposed to be the beader in the group and she had to show me how to finish the necklace! How many times did she patiently show me how to crochet and knit? I would keep forgetting but it didn't matter....she just laughed and kept trying to show me because she just loved helping, teaching, watching people grow.

She was resolute in so many things, especially in her love for her husband, Grandberry. Their relationship was solid and one of the most beautiful unions I've ever seen in my life. I marveled at how well she took care of him and how capable she was! It wasn't very much that my big sister wasn't capable of, in fact, she was the essence of Proverbs chapter 31 to the fullest.

I'll, never ever forget her. I'm waiting with excitement for the resurrection which is on the horizon.....the day when I will see her walk out screaming with tears of laughter and joy...and we will all be screaming, jumping, and leaping all over her with her with the same laughter and joy!! We all will have so much to talk to her about and so many exciting experiences to share....I can just see the smile on her face.....I can see it in my mind's eye.

Sending much love and many hugs to the family.

John 11:25 - Jesus said to her: "I am the resurrection and the life. The one who exercises faith in me, even though he dies, will come to life..."
