“ Grandma, it's been since July 20, 2012. They say time heals, but losing you still hasn't gotten any easier. I miss your voice, your hugs, and the way you made everything feel safe. You were such an important part of our family, and I carry your love with me every single day.

I see you in Dad and in the memories we all hold close. Time hasn't made this easier — it's just made me realize how lucky I was to have you. I hope you know how deeply you are loved and remembered. I hope I'm making you proud.

I wish you could have been here a little longer. I know you would have loved your great-grandson. He's so handsome, smart, loving, and funny. His smile lights up the room, and he even has dimples. He's 9 now, going on 10 — and every now and then he probably needs a little ear twist from you, lol. I can just imagine you smiling at him.

I miss you more than words can say. Save me a seat in heaven. Always your first granddaughter. Forever in my heart.
