“ Linda and I agreed before we had children that our first born girls would carry the others middle name. In family and in name, we gave my daughter a part of you to carry around for the rest of her life. Darinara loved you with all of her heart and you treated her with nothing but love and kindness. Thank you for being so good to her. She's got herself a boyfriend now and you would have loved him. I know he would have loved you.

You never asked for much and you were always happy with the just the basics, but you deserved so much more. You went out of your way to help others and asked for very little in return. You always called me Jeni instead of Jenifer, and I always called you Linda instead of Marie. I still can hear your voice in my head. I can remember the places we've been together and exactly what was said and done. I can tell you what side of the couch you sat on and what colors you were wearing.

When mom passed away, there were lots of tears and our hearts hurt for a very long time. Your heart doesn't hurt anymore. You get to live an eternity with our Savior and our mother. My heart will hurt for you and there will be tears of sadness and tears joy as time goes on.

This isn't a goodbye because I will see you again one day.

Love your sister,

Jenifer

“ Linda was loving, selfless, eager to enjoy life with her family and friends. We never had a dull moment doing hair, listening to music or watching her shows while drinking some coffee of course. You are gone physically, but spiritually we have you. I love you and thank you for sharing your ideas, recipes, and the kind way you chose to do things. Love you always Cousin & forever.
