“ Hey dad, I miss you. I wish you could have gotten to see me grow up more and see the man I am today. I have you to thank for who I am today. I have a wife and a car and living on my own like you always said I'd be able to. I lost both you and mom at a young age, but I kept my head held high and continued fighting like you always taught me even in my darkest times. Dillan has grown a lot as well. Wish you could see us now me, Mindy. I never got to say bye to either of you guys. It's been almost 10 years since you passed. I don't know just wanted to give you an update. I love you thank you for stepping up to be a father when my biological wouldn't and raising me right.

“ Remembering the good times....ice skating in Southampton, the snowball fights, the time I gave you a bloody nose when I was 5-6 maybe....lol I these recent times our talks about Jesus and how good Our Father God is to us. Blessed we both are and praying together before hanging up. I love you and will miss your voice but I am so happy for you too! I bet it's awesome meeting up with mom, dad, grandma and all those that you have gone before. Looking forward to that celebration one day may self...To God be the GLORY!! Thank you Jesus

“ *The sorrow of a friend
is not that of permanent loss, but the tender sense of sadness that comes in saying good-bye for now
to someone we love.
May today's sorrow give way to the peace and comfort of God's love.*

Rest in heavenly peace Patrick Milana

“ I never got to meet you Pat but i heard a lot about you from Joe! He loves you so much and was ready to come see you in February! I wish you could have gotten to meet just one of your grandbabies! I think thats what hurts Joe the most! But i pray you look down on your son and his kids and your wife!
