Rochelle Bullock was born in Nashville, Tennessee and was the second daughter of five children of the late Richard and Bertha Gassaway. Rochelle started her post military career as an assembly line worker at General Motors Automotive Corporation. While on a break from General Motors, Rochelle went on to get her license in Cosmetology and later started her own beauty shop. Additionally, Rochelle was a seamstress at Endless Road Sewing Company and became a Nurse's Aide at Mercy Bell Brooke Nursing Home. She returned to General Motors, where she remained employed for twenty-five years. Rochelle decided to retire in 2006.

After moving to Pontiac, Michigan she joined Antioch Missionary Baptist Church where she served on the Usher Board, Deaconess Board, Mission, Choir and was a dedicated Sunday School Bus Driver for several years.

Rochelle also enjoyed watching TV. Her favorite programs included Steve Harvey, reality shows and most of all, Tyler Perry's "The Haves and the Have Nots."

Rochelle was a kind, loving and caring persons who always put others first. She had a deep love and devotion for all of her children and family, touching everyone she came into contact with through her special personality.
