“ i went to your funeral when i was so tiny and confused. i was so confused to where i didnt even cry up in that funeral , i remember that same day by every minute and second. me and stacy were the last people in that funeral. on october 1st 2019 , i cried my soul out when i found out stacy died. i was screaming , kicking , punching , crawling , because i knew she was all i had left. now im just stuck and by myself , i feel that i need strong emotional support because i have to raise myself now .

“ I am so sorry to hear of this, and I am really sad for the children. Death stings like nothing else. We were not designed to die that's why it hurts so bad. Please take comfort that he is resting, and has the hope of being reunited with us in beautiful paradise conditions here on the earth. (John5:28,29) In the meantime please draw strength from God who knows first hand what this pain feels like.

“ I am still in a state of disbelief. My brother, my teenage partner in crime, my support, my back, man how time flew by. It seems like it was just yesterday we got in trouble for sneaking and walking to Scotia Stop when we were supposed to be taking down the wall paper in the bathroom. You said "Sis. Shirley taking this Bible thing to serious. She tryna be Pharoah and treat us like the children of Egypt. I ain't no slave." I said " Go tell her then". You looked at me and said " I ain't no dummy either". So many stories flow through my mind. So many laughs, fights and then more laughs. I will miss you. I WILL ALWAYS LOVE YOU SHY BROTHER.
